2025 U.S. Tariff Actions

Copper Section 232 Examples

Example 1:

Copper threaded bolts from Canada

HTSUS classification: 7411.10.10
Article price: $30,000

Article value is subject to S232 Copper Tariffs.

50% Copper tube - Subject to 50% S232 - $15,000
General duty - 7411.10.10 - $300

Total tariffs + duty payable = $15,000 + $300 = $15,300

Current subject to Section 232 Copper is not subject to Reciprocal. A signed USMCA certificate can remove the $300 duty. However, S232 Tariffs remain payable.

Example 2:

Copper (threaded bolts from China

HTSUS classification: 7415.33.00
Article price: $150

Full article value is subject to S232 Copper Tariffs.

$150 Bolts - Subject to 50% S232 - $75
25% S301 - $37.50
0% General duty - $4.50

Total tariffs + duty payable = $75 + $37.50 + $4.50 = $117

Note: Section 301 Tariffs are in addition to Section 232 copper. Content subject to Section 232 Copper is not subject to IEEPA, ADO and CVD may apply in addition.

Example 3:

Electric conductors not exceeding 1000V with connectors, from Thailand

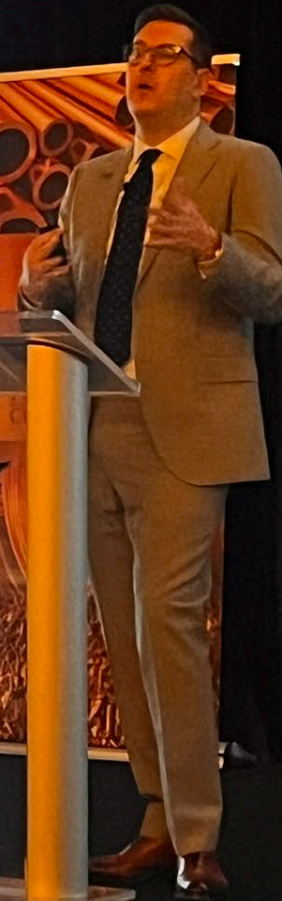

HTSUS classification: 8544.42.10
Article price: $1000

$100 of copper within the article (determined in accordance with the principles of the Customs Valuation Agreement, as implemented in 19 U.S.C. 1401a)

$100 Copper - Subject to 50% S232 tariff = $50
$900 remaining - subject to 19% Reciprocal = $171
0% General duty - 8544.42.10 = $0

Total tariffs + duty payable = $50 + $171 + $0 = $221

Note: Content subject to Section 232 Copper is not subject to Reciprocal. The Non-copper content is subject to 19% Reciprocal Tariff for Thailand originating goods.

The 50% Shock

On July 26th President Trump issued an off-the-record statement in a closed meeting.

Trump announced a 50% tariff on copper imports.

CME copper prices increased up 15% in the space of a few minutes after the announcement, before the light appeared for trading the following day. The 50% tariff took effect on 8/1/2025.
